Love [and Survival] in a Time of Covid

Festival Guide

25th June - 18th July 2021

Covid-19 - Keeping You Safe

The Tower Theatre takes the health of everyone visiting our building extremely seriously.

Throughout the festival we will be operating in line with Government guidelines and restrictions. Please check the Tower Theatre website for updates should restrictions change.

We aim to provide a Covid-secure environment and have obtained See it Safely certification from the Society of London Theatre and Good to Go certification from Visit Britain. These national schemes recognise venues that have followed government and industry COVID-19 guidelines, have a risk assessment in place and processes to maintain cleanliness and aid social distancing.

The festival will operate as cashless and accept card-only payments at the bar.

Measures we have put in place include:

- Additional cleaning and disinfecting of all areas between events
- Installed screens around the bar, technical box and backstage
- Installed hand sanitiser dispensers throughout the building
- Increased ventilation

We also ask you to help us keep the venue safe by:

- Not entering the building if you have any Covid symptoms
- Checking into the building using the NHS QR code or leaving your name and address. By law this now applies to all individuals and not just group leaders
- Letting us take your temperature
- Wearing a mask when in the building unless you are exempt or while drinking
- Following the direction of stewards whilst in the building
- Maintaining social distance

ARTISTIC TEAM

Welcome to the Love [and Survival] Festival!

The Tower Theatre Company is an independent theatre company and next year we celebrate our 90th birthday. We moved to our current home in Stoke Newington three years ago, converting the beautiful redbrick building on Northwold Road into a vibrant community theatre.

In March 2020, we were about to take on one of our most ambitious projects ever, staging Alan Ayckbourn's trilogy of plays, 'The Norman Conquests'. Hours before the second dress rehearsal the announcement came that Britain was to enter a full lockdown. Theatres across the country went dark, for what would be the longest closure of theatres since the second world war.

We were appointed as joint Artistic Directors in January 2021 and we knew that our first challenge would be to help the company emerge out of lockdown. We wanted to create an opportunity for our members and the local community to share their experiences, build connections, reclaim our identities, and celebrate the narratives and conversations of our lives in the wake of Covid-19.

'Love [and Survival]' is a cross arts festival combining submissions of performances, installations and workshops from the local community, as well as from Tower Theatre regular artists, all of whom have responded to the question in our open call: "How did you get through this last difficult year?"

We are really excited to have partnered with The Arcola to perform at Arcola Outside as part of their 'Today I'm Wiser' festival, and with another brand-new open-air venue at the Old Church in Clissold Park. We have also had the honour of working with local children from Jubilee Primary School who have shared their experiences of the last year – their words will be voiced by Tower actors.

We welcome you to our theatre, our community and into our lives. There is something for everyone in the festival and we have provided an age guidance to help you decide. We look forward to seeing you there!

Angharad, Ruth & Simona

TICKET INFORMATION

We are committed to making the festival accessible to all, so every performance, workshop and event is priced on a pay-what-you-can (PWYC) model. We don't want cost to be a barrier to the arts.

All performances and workshops at Tower Theatre start from £1. Performances at Arcola Outside and Old Church start from £5. Our exhibitions and immersive audio events are free to attend.

In order to maintain safe numbers all events need to be booked in advance online. Our in-person box office will not be open during the festival and all events have paperless ticketing. Please either print at home or show your tickets on your device.

Tickets for events at Tower Theatre, and audio walks at Abney Park, can be purchased from Tower Theatre www.towertheatre.org.uk/loveandsurvival

Tickets for performances at Arcola Outside can be purchased directly through the Arcola website www.arcolatheatre.com/today-im-wiser

Tickets for performances at Old Church can be purchased directly from the Old Church website www.theoldchurch.org.uk

WORKSHOPS

YOGA

led by Jude Chalk and Chitranshu Majahan

Tower Theatre Studio

4 July

Ticketed (pwyc) Ages 16+

Not suitable for women under 16 weeks pregnant

Breathing for Body and Mind 12:00 (1h30)

This class applies Buddhist mindfulness teachings to the physical practise of yoga; connecting your mind to your breath. It is being aware of internal sensations and feelings rather than pushing your body beyond where it wants to go in order to achieve a posture. When the mind wanders we acknowledge this without judgment, and bring our attention back to the breath and the body.

In a state of conscious rest, we're accessing the parasympathetic nervous system, which controls the 'rest and digest' functions and allows us to switch off the adrenaline and cortisol that keeps us rushing from one thing to the next. By developing sensitivity to our own prana (energy), we learn to move through our lives with steadiness (sthira) and ease (sukha).

Elemental Yoga: In the Act 13:30 (1h30)

How can theories of actor training techniques be practically embraced and imparted using the psycho-physical techniques of Yoga? What is the impact on performance related stress when curated breathing exercises and mind control techniques are applied during and before a performance? How does Yoga help in mastering emotional memory and invoking naturalism?

A dash of enquiry into these questions through movement, breathwork and a little play.
