

CHILD SAFEGUARDING POLICY

The Tower Theatre Company, (the Company) recognises its duty of care under the Children and Young Persons Act 2008, the Children (Performances and Activities) (England) Regulations 2014, the Protection of Children Act 1999, the Criminal Justice and Court Services Act 2000 and The Children's Act 2004.

Safeguarding is the action and processes taken to promote the welfare of all members of the Company and protect any children working with the Company from harm. Child protection is part of this process and focuses on protecting these children from physical, emotional or sexual abuse, neglect, grooming or online abuse.

Amateur theatre needs children for specific productions and, more importantly, because they often form the cast, crew and audience of the future. The Government sees amateur theatre as an integral part of its agenda to get more young people involved in the wider society.

Whilst we all believe it could never happen to us, it has to be recognised that abuse does exist within theatres, and we must do our best to ensure that children engaged in, or visiting, our theatre are protected from the small minority of those who would wish them harm.

Children need to feel safe and respected; their parents need to be confident about their child's welfare. Members of the Company also need guidelines in order to fulfil their responsibilities.

Definition of a child

- A child is defined as anyone under the age of 18 years.
- However, regulations relating to children in theatrical performances apply only up to the age of 16. A child requires a performance licence until the last Friday in June following their 16th birthday.
- Young people between the ages of 16-18 need to be treated differently from children under 16.

Definition of child abuse

"Children may be in need of protection where their basic needs are not being met, in a manner appropriate to their age and stage of development, and they will be at risk through avoidable acts of commission or omission (This means children at risk through either something a person has done to them OR something a person is failing to do for them) on the part of their parent(s), sibling(s) or other relative(s), or a carer (i.e. the person(s) while not a parent who has actual custody of the child.)"

Safeguarding Policy Statement

Working with children - Good Practice guidelines

- Respect all children, as befits their age, and their right to privacy
- Be aware of speech, tone of voice and body language
- Ensure the child has a nominated person with whom they can speak, in confidence
- Do not bully, scapegoat, ridicule a child
- Avoid showing favouritism to any one child
- Avoid inappropriate verbal or physical behaviour e.g. sexually suggestive comments or physical or sexually provocative activities.
- Be aware that someone might misinterpret our actions even if they are well-intentioned.
- Do not allow children to involve you in excessive attention seeking that is overtly physical or sexual in nature.
- Never give a lift to a child when alone. When this is not avoidable, ask the child to sit in the back of the car. Do not invite a young person to your home.
- Do not share sleeping accommodation with young people (E.g. Touring productions)
- Do not allow unknown adults access to children

Unsupervised Contact - protecting the child and the adult

- All cast and crew of a production involving children will be sent a copy of the Policy and advised on its contents, which they must read and respond that they have read and understood it.
- The Company, and production Director, will attempt to ensure that no adult has unsupervised contact with children.
- If possible there will always be two adults in the room when working with children.
- If unsupervised contact is unavoidable, steps will be taken to minimize risk. For example, work will be carried out in a public area, or in a designated room with the door open.
- If it is predicted that an individual is likely to require unsupervised contact with children, s/he will be required to obtain a criminal record disclosure. (DBS check). The relevant DBS Referral Form and guidance can be found at <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/dbsreferrals-form-and-guidance>
- Adults will only touch children when it is absolutely necessary i.e. in relation to the particular activity/role in a production.
- The Director will make clear to the child and to the adult actors, the purpose of any physical contact and will ensure the child understands and consents prior to the rehearsal.

Managing sensitive information

- Permission will be sought from the parents for use of photographic material featuring children for promotional or other purposes.
- Members of the cast/crew will not, at any time, take photographs on their mobile 'phones that include any pictures of children in the production.
- The Company's web-based materials and activities will be carefully monitored for inappropriate use.
- Members of the cast/crew are strongly discouraged from exchanging personal details with children in the production.
- The Company will ensure confidentiality in order to protect the rights of its members, including the safe handling, storage and disposal of any sensitive information such as criminal record disclosures.

Suspicion of abuse

- If you see or suspect abuse of a child while in the care of the Company, please make this known to the chaperone. If you suspect that the chaperone is the source of the problem, you should make your concerns known to the Child Safeguarding Officer and Chair of the Management Committee.
- Please make a note of what you witnessed, as well as your response, for your own records in case there is a follow-up investigation in which you are involved.
- If a serious allegation is made against any member of the Company, chaperone, venue staff etc., that individual will be suspended immediately until the investigation is concluded. The individual will be excluded from the theatre, rehearsal rooms etc. and will not have any unsupervised contact with any other children in the production.

Disclosure of abuse

If a child confides in you that abuse has taken place

- Remain calm. However difficult it is to listen to the child, think how hard it is for them to say it.
- Acknowledge the age of the child
- Try to remain neutral and not show emotion, (anger, disbelief, disgust), as the child may stop talking for fear of upsetting you further. You have been chosen because the child feels they can talk to you.
- Listen carefully to what has been said. Allow the child to tell you at their own pace and ask questions only for clarification. If the matter is to be investigated further it will be done so by professionals)
- Don't ask questions that suggest a particular answer.
- Do not ask the child to repeat themselves over and over, they may think you do not believe them.
- Never trivialise or exaggerate child abuse issues.
- Reassure the child that you are glad that s/he has told you what happened and that 'they did the right thing' in telling someone.
- Be honest and tell the child that you cannot promise to keep their disclosure a secret; you must talk to someone else that can help.
- Tell the child what you are going to do next; make it clear that you will need to share this information with others but you will only tell the people who need to know and who should be able to help.
- Immediately, or as soon as is possible, contact and share the information with the Company's Child Safeguarding Officer and Chair of the Management Committee.

Recording

- In all situations, including those in which the cause of concern arises from a disclosure made in confidence, the details of an allegation or reported incident will be recorded, regardless of whether or not the concerns have been shared with a statutory child protection agency.
- Everything the child discloses must be written down. This is confidential and should only be discussed with the Child Safeguarding Officer, or in his or her absence, the Chair of the Management Committee.

- An accurate note shall be made of the date and time of the incident or disclosure, the parties involved, what was said or done and by whom, any action taken to investigate the matter, any further action taken e.g. suspension of an individual, where relevant the reasons why the matter was not referred to a statutory agency, and the name of the persons reporting and to whom it was reported.
- The record will be stored securely and shared only with those who need to know about the incident or allegation.

Accidents

- To avoid accidents, chaperones and children will be advised of “house rules” regarding health and safety and will be notified of areas that are out of bounds. Children will be advised of the clothing and footwear appropriate to the work that will be undertaken.
- If a child is injured while in the care of the Company, a designated first-aider will administer first aid and the injury will be recorded in the Company’s accident book. This record will be countersigned by the person with responsibility for child protection.
- If a child joins the production with an obvious physical injury a record of this will be made in the accident book. This record will be countersigned by the person with responsibility for child protection. This record can be useful if a formal allegation is made later and will also be a record that the child did not sustain the injury while participating in the production.

Chaperones

- Local authorities, responsible for licensing chaperones, do not have consistent requirements and many chaperones do not receive training. A set of guidelines for chaperones will be provided. They should be considered as crew and included in all briefings.
- Chaperones will be appointed by the Company for the care of children during the production process. By law the chaperone is acting in loco parentis and should exercise the care which a good parent might be reasonably expected to give to a child. The maximum number of children in the chaperone’s care shall not exceed 12.
- During performances, chaperones will be responsible for meeting children at the stage door and signing them into the building.
- Chaperones will be aware of where the children are at all times and adequately supervised them while going to and from the toilets. Children will not be allowed to enter the adult dressing rooms.
- Chaperones should be aware of the safety arrangements and first aid procedures in the venue, and will ensure that children in their care do not place themselves and others in danger.
- Children are not to leave the theatre unsupervised by chaperones unless in the company of their parents.
- Children should be signed out when leaving and a record made of the person collecting. If someone different is to collect the child, a telephone call should be made to the parent to confirm the arrangements.
- If a parent has not collected the child, it is the duty of the chaperone to stay with that child or make arrangements to take them home.

This policy will be regularly monitored by the Management Committee of the Company and will be subject to annual review.
